

Great resource for “everything you need to put on a successful musical in your classroom!”

<http://www.badwolfpress.com/>

From the back cover of Vacation on Mars:

What musicals can do for your classroom:

- Spark the learning process
Participating in a musical play is a hands-on learning experiences that makes History, Literature, and Science jump out of the textbook and come alive.
- Build classroom camaraderie
Putting on a show builds teamwork, co-operation, and mutual support; students feel good about themselves and each other. Here’s a great opportunity for “reluctant” learners to shine.
- Integrate the classroom curriculum
Our plays are designed to make it easy to connect art, speech, movement, music, and singing with your already bulging curriculum.
- Provide an irresistible inducement for parental involvement
These productions get families—and the entire school community involved in and excited about what’s going on in your classroom.
- Cross language and learning barriers.
Our plays can be adapted for classrooms of mixed languages and abilities. They are appropriate for all elementary grade school levels and have been enjoyed by students and teachers in all types of classroom situations.
- Fun, easy, and rewarding.
Students, teachers and families love our plays. They are fun to do, easy to produce and often the highlight of the year. We guarantee.

Bad Wolf Press